

BUILT FROM THE GROUND UP

{ Alpharetta, GA }

During the late-90s dot-com boom, hundreds of miles of fiber optic cable were buried throughout our town, creating an ideal environment for tech companies. We could say “and the rest is history,” but that would imply that we’ve reached a stopping point—in fact, we’re just getting started. We’re home to 12 data centers and more than 600 tech companies, and with 20 million square foot office market plus a highly educated workforce ready to meet your needs, we’re eager to see who joins us for the next chapter of our city’s future. If you’re expanding your business, or starting a new one, Alpharetta is ready to work.
